5. Regulations amending the Swedish Environmental Protection Agency Regulations on measuring equipment for determining the environmental charge on emissions of nitrogen oxides in energy production.

6. Measuring equipment for determining the environmental charge on emissions of nitrogen oxides in energy production.

8. The aim of the amending regulations is to update certain requirements so that they remain reasonable and relevant for measuring equipment in energy production, and will mean, at the same time, that reliable measurement results can be expected to be achieved. Also to clarify certain requirements so it is easier for operators covered by the regulatory frameworks to follow and comply with the requirements of the regulations.

9. The aim is to make it easier for operators and other interested parties to understand and thus be able to comply with the requirements set out in applicable laws, ordinances and regulations, thereby ensuring reliable measurement results.
