Directive (EC) No 2006/123 on services in the internal market

Requirements which reserve access to particular providers

Inspection activities pursuant to Section 2 of the notified regulation may be carried out by all inspection experts who are officially recognised under Federal State Law for the inspection of the respective type of technical installation. The provisions in this regard are neither directly nor indirectly discriminatory.

The regulations on regular inspections of technical installations under Section 2 of the notified draft regulation are considered necessary in special structures within the scope of application of the regulation due to the special nature or use of these structures for hazard prevention.

The regulations are limited in scope to special structures and, within those structures, to installations that are necessary for the rescue of persons and fire-fighting in the event of a fire, or from which hazards may emanate, and are therefore proportionate.

8. The notified legislation applies to the inspection of the technical installations listed in Section 2 of the notified regulation in special structures as defined in Section 1 of the notified regulation, in particular if these technical installations are required by building regulations, or insofar as they are subject to building regulations with regard to fire protection. The notified regulation specifies the installations subject to inspection and defines the obligations of the building owner or operator in connection with the inspection.

9. In certain special structures, due to their special nature and use (use by large groups of people or persons with special protection needs), safety-related installations must be inspected by building code-approved experts before initial commissioning, after substantial modifications before recommissioning and at regular intervals. The purpose of these inspections is to determine the effectiveness and operational reliability of these safety-related installations.

The notification is made on behalf of the 16 federal states of the Federal Republic of Germany.
